Breast cancer survivor? Want to eat better?

Join a study that can help you eat healthier and may reduce your future cancer risk!

What is this study about?

Breast cancer survivors will learn how eating certain cancer-fighting foods may reduce their risk for recurrence.

How does the study work?

Participants will be randomly assigned to one of two study groups. Each group will be given different cancer nutrition tools. Participants will be evaluated (via survey & blood work) three times over one year at the Cancer Therapy and Research Center in San Antonio.

Who is eligible?

Women ages 18-75 who will have completed breast cancer treatment at least 3 months before joining this study.

How will you benefit?

Participants get H-E-B gift cards ($25 at Visit 1, $30 at Visit 2, $35 at Visit 3) and can earn more incentives during study events. Participation is vital toward groundbreaking research that helps future cancer survivors.

Call to see if you qualify: 210-562-6579

This study is funded by Susan G. Komen for the Cure and directed by the Institute for Health Promotion Research at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, in partnership with the Cancer Therapy and Research Center.